

BLAZE - Gay Magazine 2008

Summer, friends and shrimp on the barbie: take a look at our sizzling selection of barbeques.

Summer, friends and shrimp on the barbie: Get out of the kitchen, turn up the heat with this sizzling selection of flamin' great barbeques.

With one in ten Aussies claiming to be outdoor sizzlers all year-round, it's no wonder that BBQs have grown to become Australian national icons. And now that summer's here, there's no better time to buy (or upgrade) this quintessential backyard feature. For something that's truly sizzling, check out the latest range from these leading makers.

Kamado Cookers

Why stop at snags? This hot looking lot are new on the scene and don't just grill – they bake bread, cook pizzas, smoke meat, roast, braise and even casserole. Keeping your meat moist for longer, they are made from natural ceramics and powered by natural charcoal. To top it off, it's cute, efficient and cost effective.

rrp. $1499 from Kamado Cookers

Lifestyle Global

A BBQ should be for life, not just for Christmas. This top-notch, stainless steel, five-burner is royalty. Specially designed, it can be installed to be the main feature of a custom-made outdoor kitchen, or can roam freely. There's plenty of storage space and big banquets come easy as this hi-tech machine can feed five to twenty five guests.

rrp. $7500.00 incl. delivery/assembly from Lifestyle BBQs

Turbo Elite Island

If you've the space and savings to burn, then just go for it, with this complete outdoor kitchen. Prue and Trude from Kath and Kim would surely agree that alfresco entertaining doesn't get much better than this. With sleek granite bench tops, and a commercially-rated fridge – it has everything, including the kitchen sink! (Note: cylinders are sold separately).

rrp. $7490 from Barbeques Galore